Moth Watching

The BNHS reserve is situated on the edge of the Sanjay Gandhi National Park. The BNHS reserve is 33 acres of pristine forest and is an ideal getaway for us city dwellers. After the first monsoon showers the forest blooms, and several species of Moths are seen hiding in the dark places. Hence the best time to see moths is after sunset. This is unique opportunity to observe these night jewels of nature.

Timing: 06:30 pm to 10:00 pm

Charges: Rs. 750 for BNHS members and Rs. 850 for others.

Cost includes: CEC entry fees, BNHS expertise and Dinner

Registration: Email us at cec-mumbai@bnhs.org or call us at 9594953425/8591318027

Breakfast with Butterflies

The BNHS reserve is situated on the edge of the Sanjay Gandhi National Park. The BNHS reserve is 33 acres of pristine forest and is an ideal getaway for us city dwellers. Monsoon showers trigger various flora and fauna of the forest to come out of their hiding and butterflies are one of these. The most of these flying jewels of nature start their breeding cycle right after monsoon and that is the best time to observe and study them.

Timing: 07:30 am to 12:00 am

Charges: Rs. 650 for BNHS members and Rs. 750 for others.

Cost includes: CEC entry fees and BNHS expertise

How to reach BNHS Conservation Education Centre (CEC),
Mumbai (Way to CEC):

- If you have a private vehicle, you may directly come to BNHS CEC Gate Number 1 (Location is given below)

- If you are taking public transport: Take a Bus no.343 headed to Dadasaheb Phalke Chita Nagari or Film City (not Santosh Nagar) from Goregaon (East) BEST depot. Alight at the last stop, opposite Reliance Media Works and walk straight (don’t turn right). Along this narrow-tarred road, walk past the small Waghoba (Big Cat Deity) temple situated on the right side. Immediately ahead you will see a BNHS gate (Gate No. 2) on the right side. After passing through this gate, a five-minute walk along a demarcated nature trail will bring you to CEC building.

- If you are coming by rickshaw, can drive up to BNHS CEC Gate No.1 (Location given below) or to Gate No.2 and then walk-through forest to the CEC.
